

TOWNSHIP OF HURON-KINLOSS

First of a kind

"The concept of a public-private partnership is certainly unique in the electrical industry. We are moving into an era where the distribution of electricity is truly a business, and it's imperative that the common sense of business be applied. It's this common sense that Canadian Niagara Power brings to Westario Power Holdings".

Mark Kraemer, Mayor of Saugeen Shores

The electricity industry in Ontario is changing, and so are its players. The municipal electric utilities of Saugeen Shores, Kincardine, Hanover, Brockton, Wingham, Huron-Kinloss, South Bruce and Minto have recently merged into a single larger regional utility, Westario Power Holdings Inc.

As a business partner, with shared ownership in the new company, Canadian Niagara Power brings its almost 100 years of experience as a private for-profit electric utility operator in the Province of Ontario. Canadian Niagara Power understands the importance of balancing the needs of customers and shareholders and looks forward to working with its municipal partners to ensure Westario Power's long-term success.

Through this unprecedented public-private partnership, the owners believe that Westario Power Holdings Inc. will be better positioned to improve efficiencies and bring an added level of risk management to its operations, while continuing to provide the quality of service their 20,000 customers of Bruce, Grey, Huron and Wellington counties have come to expect from their local utilities.
